"THE EFFECT OF TRUSTS."

A trust may not be as fully understood as it should be regarding its effect upon the industry of the people. Hon. F. G. Newlands, in his letter to the Chicago convention, said in effect that the old form of trust consisted of a combination of individuals to advance the price of some commodity in trade, which is true respecting the old form of trust. The new form that the people are called upon to meet is a combination of capital and not, as under the old form, a combination of men. A combination of dollars is in truth substituted for a combination of trades-people. The object to be attained is the same in each of the combinations—that is, to increase the price of some product or products placed on the market.

The purpose and the effect being the same in both forms there should be no distinction in name. There is no reason for making any distinction in name where capital is used as a means of oppression, as all capital that is given a representation in business when used as a means to rob the public is an unjust use of money and is likely injurious to the public or any part of it that is effected by the oppressive use of money.

Mr. Newlands, in the letter referred to, in effect said that large capital representation used for trust purposes is given a corporate form. Capital represented in corporate form can be used more surely to carry forward the intention of the owners of the capital used who take the character of stockholders of the corporation, because it is more readily used for the purpose of those who are members of the corporation and who direct its affairs.

The corporate form given to capital affords better shelter to the individual who has engaged in robbing the public than any combination of individuals without corporate form could afford. It has been said that a corporation is without a soul, which saying is true, and if the saying had been extended in form to include those back of a corporation that is used to oppress, it would have included more truth. If we are correct in the conclusion that the term trust may be applied to any corporate body that uses the capital represented by it for oppression, may not the term trust apply to the Southern Pacific company, who uses the Central Pacific railroad to oppress the people of Nevada; but before we make a conclusion about the justice of the application of the term trust to the company, it may be well to learn if there is cause for the application of the term.

Over thirty years ago the Central Pacific was built over the State of Nevada. Then the people were in expectation of having a means through the railroad of developing the State, but their dreams that pictured to the imagination success in business enterprise were soon dissipated by all-the-traffic-will-bear. Men with capital, who were anxious to engage in business and in developing the State's mineral resources, when they ascertained the cost of bringing into the State the machinery and other supplies to do the work of exploration and development, were convinced that mining or other business enterprise in the State would not support the expense, and so it has continued till the present.

Through the course pursued by the company not only was capital excluded, but business enterprises that were in course of development were closed because of the exclusion of capital and the freight cost of supplies. The rule of all the traffic will bear was not only applied to those who were willing to invest in the State, but it was applied to each individual in the State and has so continued. If the rule of all the traffic will bear had been used in the State in any just sense, the vitality of the State's resources would have made an excellent showing under the rule; but to Nevada there was given a rule that expressed more than the traffic will bear, and it is the rule of more than the traffic would bear that destroyed all business enterprises.

The application of the rule more than the traffic will bear in its worst form caused many of the people of the State to go away to seek a place where they could make a living, and they have continued to go away until there is remaining to bear the burden of a commonwealth a few thousand people. The continued oppression upon the State and its people is a result arising from combined capital in corporate form, directed by those who have determined to use it without taking into consideration the individual rights of the people who are subject to its injustice.

which manner of conducting corporate capitalization is represented by each trust organized, and because of the many trusts given form, who will inform the people approximately upon the consequences to the country if a remedy is not provided that will control them?

The people of Nevada should be, and it is correct to assume are the best informed people on the earth on the effects of a trust. Thirty years of oppression caused by a trust should give very extended information of its effects on industry and commerce.

IT WAS THE EVENT
OF THE SEASON

Last Night's Dance Was Largely Attended and a Great Success.

Ernest Hall did himself proud last night. The dance given under management in the pavilion was attended by the best people of the town and they were all glad to be there.

As a prelude to the ball a company of cuttycoons gave a laughable and artistic cakewalk, ate pies against time, rattled the bones, danced the buck and wing and in other ways afforded entertainment for the assemblage.

The dance proper was everything that could be wished for. A splendid orchestra furnished the music. Dick Tobin, Ernest Corris, E. F. Hall and the Julian Brothers constituted the orchestra. Captain Goss as floor manager shone as a bright particular star.

A Huge City.

Renoites often boast they live in the metropolis of Nevada, but they reckon without Wadsworth.

Our neighbor to the eastward is something of a burg herself. A man might think he could circumnavigate the town in the course of thirty minutes, but let him try it. According to the law of 1891 Wadsworth is 14 1/4 miles wide and 18 miles long. It extends from Olinghouse canyon to the Churchill county line and reaches northward to Pyramid lake.

Of course this act of 1891 was annulled by last year's legislation, but while new boundary lines may have been established by the board, there is no record thereof.

RIVER IMPROVEMENTS ARE CONTEMPLATED

An Embankment Is to Be Built Along
the South Bank of Truckee River.

Congressmen Newlands, W. O. H. Martin and Senator Westerfield, owners of property on the south bank of the Truckee river in this city, appeared before the Commissioners yesterday in the interest of a project to beautify this stream.

They propose to construct an embankment which will serve as a promenade or boulevard from the Virginia & Truckee bridge to the island. The cost of the proposed improvement is estimated at $600. Mr. Newlands offers to pay one-third of this sum, other property owners will pay $200 and the board was requested to stand the remaining third.

The matter was taken under advisement.

A meeting of property owners will be held to-day at 11 o'clock to perfect arrangements.

This is the most opportune time for doing this work, as the river will not for a long time be as low as at present. The material for constructing this embankment wall is found in the boulders that strew the stream.

Jury Says "Not Guilty."

We rise to announce that the Harry Davis, who passed the lone watches of night before last in the city cooler for raising seven kinds of shell is not the Harry Davis who hangs out on Commercial Row.

We understand that Harry got upon his hind legs and howled yesterday, when he read the JOURNAL. His wife is away. This made matters worse. He feared that she would see the JOURNAL and institute suit for alimony and other things.

We don't doubt that Harry is capable of shooting up the town and committing all sorts of infractions of the law but in this case he didn't do it.

Remarkable Cure of Rheumatism.

KENNA, Jackson Co., W. Va.

About three years ago my wife had an attack of rheumatism which confined her to her bed for over a month and rendered her unable to walk a step without assistance, her limbs being swollen to double their normal size. Mr. S. Maddox insisted on my using Chamberlain's Pain Balm. I purchased a fifty-cent bottle and used it according to the directions and the next morning she walked to breakfast without assistance in any manner, and she has not had a similar attack since.

HE WAS KINDLY TAKEN CARE OF

Unfortunate Mr. Day Accompanied to the End of His Journey.

A. A. Day, the unfortunate traveler who was taken violently insane near Elko Friday, and placed in charge of the Sheriff, was sent on his way rejoicing last night in company with Wm. Fogg, who will see him safely through to Los Angeles, his destination.

Mr. Day's relatives in Minneapolis evidently feared a mental collapse, for a note was fastened to him asking that he be well taken care of, and that the aforesaid relatives would "pay the freight." The Deputy Sheriff telegraphed to his folks, telling of his charge's condition. Yesterday a telegraphic money order for $75 arrived.

The insane man had by that time partly recovered his reason. He thanked Deputy Hayes very cordially as he and his attendant boarded the train.

THE BIRD'S PETITION.

Deep in leafy woodland bower,
Bright with undergrowth of flowers,
O'er the dappled mead and pool
And in tangled lanes most cool,
Pipe the thrush, finch and lark
From the dewy dawn to dark,
And they pipe and never tire
Song as sweet as love's desire.

Oft to me they seem to sing,
On the branch or on the wing:
"If you leave us space and sky,
Room to nest and sing and fly,
We will pipe for your delight,
Pipe and make the days more bright,
But in narrow cage confined
Song is slain by joy unkind,

"Honor, then, our wild domain,
Break not little hearts with pain;
God who made the merry day
Gave to us our roundelay,
And like honey laden bee,
Or like wild winds made us free,
Leave, then, leave us to our song,
Woods and meads and flowers among."
Charles Lusted in Gentleman's Magazine

Photographing by Heat.

A sensitive plate exposed to dark heat waves will ultimately become affected. With the plate still covered the same result would occur from light waves, such as proceed from the sunlight. A fair test is to expose an aluminum disk to their action. X rays penetrate this metal, and it is probable that heat waves and others can affect the photographic plate.

REPORT OF THE SCHOOLS

Pupils Who Have Earned a Place on the Honor Roll.

ATTENDANCE FOR MONTH

Report of Principal and Teachers of Reno Public Schools for the Month of September.

To the Honorable Board of School Trustees, GENTLEMEN: I herewith respectfully present my report for the school month ending September 21, 1899.

The attendance has already reached 641, which exceeds by 57 the highest last year, though the gain from consolidation with the Training school was only 40. The attendance of pupils from other towns and districts, always considerable, is greater this year than in any previous year.

We are making an earnest effort, all along the line, to strengthen many features of the school work. We realize that better results should be attained in number work, in reading and in language and composition, and there is every disposition and ability to accomplish these. Improvements in other directions are also being attempted. To make the schools more worthy of public favor and support than ever before, will be the aim of all throughout the present school year.

The increase in attendance has fallen heavily on the first grade rooms. These rooms now have an average of over 50 pupils each, with a second grade class in each, originally so arranged to accommodate different sections of the town. This makes at least four divisions to a room—chart, primer, first reader and second reader grades.

With so large an attendance, this gives far too much work for one teacher to do well—in fact the work cannot be well done in these grades under such conditions. By consolidation like classes in these three, substantial relief might be gained, though some children would have to travel a little farther than now. Each teacher would have one less division and could then give proper time to the others.

First and Second Grades, L. J. Unruh, teacher—second—Leslie Applegate, Gladys Miller, Mabel McCart, Dorothy Stewart, Alfred Phillips, Lawrence Hodgkinson, Lewis Hymers, Mary Tomam 001.

Receiving, First and Second Grades, Jennie V. Jameson, teacher—Echo Smith, Louisa Becker, Ruth Graham, Edna Orr, Blanch Taylor, Alvina Wenbold, Juanita Jones, Tom Hobbins, Emmie McLambard, Ellis Gulling, Percy Ward, Nettie Newmarker, Frank Ward, Henry Anderson, Lily Gaines, Pearl Hudelson.
